WIT AND HUMOR.

"Define a gentleman," you say? Well, yes, I think I can. He's as gentle, as a woman, and as manly as a man.—London Truth.

The latest thing in boots—stockings.—Free Press.

A good prophet—100 per cent.—Kokomo Tribune.

If you wish to take care of your health, take air.—Free Press.

Bonds that are hard to redeem—vagabonds.—Vallejo Chronicle.

Recipe for making your own eye water. Stick your finger in it.

An onion, like a laborer, works best with its coat off.—New York People.

A lawyer's daughter calls her numerous suitors sundry plaintiffs.—Salem Sunbeam.

Good silver coin is known by its ring, and so also is the good circus.—Philadelphia Chronicle.

It is difficult to become familiar with the wheels of a watch, so many of them travel incog.—Detroit Free Press.

A compositor who cannot agree with his wife says he must have taken her out of the wrong font.—Puck.

The older a sparkling coquette or a fashionable belle grows the more matchless she becomes.—Detroit Free Press.

It was a bright Frenchman who sent to the collector of Port a circular of his new brands of wine.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

A gang of commercial travelers, just arrived, call themselves the Drum Corps. They beat the world.—Steuenville Herald.

We know a carriage-maker who has a silky wife and a gig-gling daughter, but they are rather hansom for all that.—New York News.

Grandpa.—"Now, Tommy, can you tell me where port comes from?" "Tommy,—" "No, sir; but I know where it goes to." The question is not pressed.—Free Press.

The Bridgton (Me.) News calmly says: "The types last week made us say that the showers were not sufficient to meet the wants of milkmen, etc., instead of millmen."

The average plowman isn't much of an orator, but when he takes the stump and gets yanked over into the next field he is a very forcible speaker.—Herald.

A Southern artist has painted a romantic picture of an illicit whisky maker's camp in the Georgian hills. It is called "Moonshiner's Mountain." Of course it is a picture of still life.—Free Press.

Columbus made an egg stand. But Italians of less renown have made the peanut stand.—Free Press. None but the carriage drivers can make the back stand. Richmond Baton.

The wag's definition of bigotry is as good and as inclusive as that of Webster's dictionary. "A bigot," says he; "why he's a man who knows too much for one and not quite enough for two."

"Mr. Smith," said a lady at a fair, "won't you please buy this bouquet to present to the lady you love?" "I wouldn't be right," said Mr. Smith; "I'm a married man."—Buffalo Express.

"In what condition was the patriarch Job at the end of his life?" asked a Brooklyn Sunday school teacher of a quite-looking boy at the foot of the class. "Dead," calmly replied the quiet-looking boy.

He was sitting in the parlor with her when a rooster crowed in the yard, and leaning over he said: "Chanticleer!" "I wish to gracions you would!" He took his hat and left, and hasn't been there since.—Philadelphia Times.

Educational: Teacher.—"Suppose that you have two sticks of candy, and your big brother gives you two more, how many have you got then?" Little Boy (shaking his head):—"You don't know him; he ain't that kind of a boy."—Galveston News.

A California convict who was about to be hanged coolly sang a song to the Sheriff, but the local journals do not know the name of the song. It must have been, "Break the Noose Gently."—New York Herald.

The Sun prints a poem every morning and always puts directly under it the advertisement of a patent medicine which cures cramps and colic. It is such careful care for the health and convenience of its readers that makes the Sun so invaluable.—Puck.
